

“We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. — That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, — That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness.”

I. Introduction

The author of this book grew up in Europe on European cultural, social and religious traditions. He became a physician with unusual affection and talents for medical research. He decided at the age of 29 to move to Stockholm, take a position at the Royal Karolinska Hospital and start his research at the Royal Karolinska Institute. The Karolinska's reputation as an eminent research institute, its association with the Royal Family and the prestigious Nobel Prize, was an irresistible attraction for a young ambitious doctor. He became, in time, a Swedish Citizen, married, and fathered two well-made (very Swedish) kids.

However, Sweden changed a lot during that time. The Royal Karolinska was taken over by the State, the Nobel Prize became politically biased and corrupted, the King was repeatedly humiliated, a flowering democracy became a hiding place for below-average individuals. Biro left the country for a sabbatical year in the USA in 2002 (at the age 52 and after living in Stockholm for 23 years), and never returned to Sweden.

Biro became extremely productive and successful in his new country. He wrote numerous influential scientific articles and reviews in his field, which most recently is computational and theoretical biology, and filed several patents. He completed Nirenberg's Genetic Code, work that has extremely high scientific and biotechnological potential. Biro was honored with US permanent residency in 2006 as a person with exceptional ability in US National Interest.

A highly unexpected and clearly very important historical event happened during the autumn of 2008 in the USA. The US economy entered free fall because of mismanagement and unprecedented greed by its leaders. The country entered a huge depression and drew the rest of the world with it into the same decline. The people started to cry out for change, which resulted in the election of Obama to the presidency, the very first African American president of the country.

Now, President Obama turned out to be a highly intelligent and charming person with a nice family. He is popular in the USA with a high approval rating for what he is doing (in June 2009). He is well received in Europe (except the Vatican). He succeeded in stopping the country's economic free fall. However, he is a Democrat, who, very intelligently, has used the recent bad American situation to socialize the country with a lot of regulations and a huge government. People have started to worry that he will transmute the country - a traditionally capitalistic society (the World's largest) - into a bureaucratic socialism in the European style; God help us, perhaps the Swedish type. Sweden is the country that has gone furthest to the left in the entire World, having the largest governmental bureaucracy (control system), though it still remains formally a democracy, with free elections. Sweden is regarded as the world's most successful country in distributing goods according to the Marxist model, which says that members of society should contribute to wealth with their full capacity and receive their share from the goods in accordance with their needs, whatever that might mean.

Biro is a professionally trained observer and analyst in a unique situation. He lived in Europe and Sweden for many years and has direct inside experience about life in those countries. At the same time, he is a devoted supporter of free, individual-based capitalism and a big fan of the American spirit and ideals of personal freedom, pursuit of happiness and the possibility of success. This book is a personal analysis of the Swedish human phenotype and lifestyle and has the very clear intention of achieving a realistic judgment: how great is the risk (or chance) that America will develop into a Swedish type social bureaucracy?
